1		A slaves' life could be pleasant if he or she had a kindly master.
2		For some slaves living conditions were good. They preferred being slaves to being free.
3		Slave quarters were large and had plenty of space for whole families to live together comfortably.
4		Slaves had to endure passage across the Atlantic in cramped quarters in which they laid side by side.
5		Slaves worked hard picking cotton, but they enjoyed their work and were never mistreated physically
6		Slaves ate rich diets of fresh vegetables and large amounts of meat
