Fugitive Slave Act and the Underground Railroad
Post-Assessment

(If necessary, use a separate sheet of paper)

1. If you were living in the 1850's describe your journey on the Underground Railroad and use your five senses to journal your trip.

2. Once slaves escaped into the northern territory, were they truly safe and free? Justify your response.

3. Take the perspective of a slave, slave owner, or abolitionist and describe how the Fugitive Slave Act affected you, personally.

4. If you were mailed in a box like Henry, what volume would you need? Find a partner and measure the space needed.

5. Describe two different methods of communication among the slaves and support your responses with details.

6. Identify the quilt pattern below and its hidden message:
